

International Minerals Pty Ltd

Sustainability Policy

Scope

International Minerals Pty Ltd is a mineral resources company committed to the sustainable development of the mineral resources, people and communities that it operates within.

Legal compliance

The Company will meet or exceed, as the case may be, all environmental and sustainability legislation that apply to its operations.

Other compliance

The Western Australian “State Sustainability Strategy” defines sustainability as “...meeting the needs of current and future generations through an integration of environmental protection, social advancement, and economic prosperity”. The Company accepts these principles of sustainability and will strive to ensure that the net social, economic, and environmental effects of its operations over their entire life cycle are beneficial.

Commitment to minimisation of pollution

Continuous improvement

The Company is committed to the minimising where practicable of all forms of pollution from activities under its control. The Company plans to continuously improve its operational performance so that the net effects of the Company’s operations are beneficial, and therefore sustainable in the long term. This may be achieved by considering a number of options, including improvements in technology and operational procedures, innovative project design and management, and mitigation and off-set programmes.

Framework for setting and reviewing objectives and targets

An environmental management system will provide the framework for setting and reviewing the Company’s sustainable development objectives and targets year by year.
